Let's talk about Donald Trump's Gimp-like place in the larger framework of the Russian mob.

[THREAD]

1/ More and more, prominent people have pointed out Trump's mob ties—or, at least, his facility with the language and tactics of the mob. This is welcome news. But it's important that we understand what his role really is.

2/ Some have called Trump a “mob boss.” This is inaccurate. Tho he played one on TV, Trump is NOT a boss. He's a money launderer, and has been for many years. He is not Tony Soprano or Paulie Cicero. He is not Vito Corleone—and his idiot sons are sure as shit not Sonny and Fredo.

3/ The closest character to Trump in the various mob movies/shows is Davey Scatino, the owner of Ramsey Sports & Outdoors, who appeared in several eps of The Sopranos.

David 'Davey' Scatino is the (former) owner of Ramsey Sports and Outdoors and a childhood friend of Tony Soprano and Artie Bucco. Davey has a compulsive gambling habit, which Tony uses for his profit...

4/ Scatino had a big gambling problem, racked up YUGE debts he could not pay. Trump gambles on investments rather than poker, but the psychology is the same.

The mob doesn't let you declare bankruptcy. If you owe them, you will pay, one way or the other.

5/ With Scatino, Tony Soprano took advantage of his ownership of Ramsey Outdoor. He made Scatino max out his credit buying merchandise, which Tony took and sold himself. He did this until the store went belly-up, and Scatino declared bankruptcy.

6/ Remember when Trump owned that casino, and it went bust? It takes a special kind of stupid to bankrupt a casino—UNLESS YOU'RE ACTIVELY TRYING TO DO SO.

7/ That said, Donald Trump is not EXACTLY Davey Scatino. Trump has been famous for 30+ years, and for 25 of those years he was popular & well-liked. (It's hard to remember this now, but it's true). His name, his brand—these were far more valuable than wholesale sporting goods.

8/ When Trump went bust, yet again & no US banks would bail him out, he turned to the Russian mob for help. (This sort of thing happens in movies all the time).

With the mob, it's in for a penny, in for a pound, and the only means of early termination involves cement shoes.

9/ Tony Soprano used Davey Scatino until the opportunities for exploitation were exhausted. Putin/Mogilevich will use Trump until there is no further way to exploit him.

That's what the mob does. They take and take and take until there is nothing left to take.

10/ Davey Scatino has a son named Eric, who is friends w/Meadow. When Eric learns the truth, he turns his back on his father. Trump's children are Eric Scatino, if Eric Scatino defended Davey & denied that anything was wrong w/Ramsey Outdoor & actively embraced Tony Soprano.

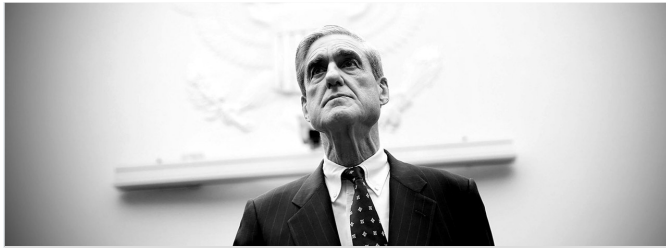

11/ Bottom line: the White House is a far more valuable property than Ramsey Outdoor. Which is why Trump is such a danger to the republic.

12/ Davey Scatino winds up in a mental health facility. Donald Trump and his criminal spawn will end up in the hoosegow.

You know who destroys mobsters IRL? Robert Swan Mueller III, that's who.

How Scared Should Trump Be of Mueller? Ask John Gotti or Sammy “...

If history is any guide, Mueller will put up with 19 murders to get his mark.

With the Trump parallel, we’ve reached the point in the story arc where Davey Scatino is sleeping in a tent in Ramsey Outdoor.

The good guys are winning.

Les jeux sont faits, motherfuckers.

WE SHALL PREVAIL!
