1 There is a story behind the chaos over the last 10 days since Trump's 50 tweet breakdown, explosive TV reaction, MAL entourage, 48 hr silence, to Barr's short interpretation of Mueller's report. The obvious take: Trump's heard it was bad, exploded & ordered Barr to fix it.

2 Mueller's report being made public while there are open investigations & potential indictments has never made sense. Perps would be running for the hills & burning evidence. So why did Mueller "finish"? Likely to move to Trump b4 he was named in indictments of co-conspirators.

3 Most likely Mueller white boarded this whole process & the report safely exists w/ different sections secure in multiple US attorney's offices right now.

4 The counterintelligence investigation of Trump was not in Barr's summary. The gang of 8 will be briefed on it by the FBI soon. Trump's actions AFTER the election are potentially far more damaging than his acts as a candidate. He's under a microscope now.

5 Where is the story going? Best guesses:

- 1) Mueller exposed Putin's control of Trump- watch for the CI briefing. and/or
- 2) Trump's dementia is now so obvious, there is a consensus to ease him out. This will eventually happen- 100%
